

Client wallet management

What is it?

The client budget is where account money is transferred and campaigns are using it

When the master agency account is funded, the agency can allocate specific budgets to their sub-accounts.

The screenshot displays the Eskimi client wallet management interface. The sidebar on the left contains navigation links: Overview, Creative sets, Campaigns, Reports, Telcodash, Tools, AdOps tools, Admin tools, Billing, Settings, and Help. The main content area is titled "Add credit" and prompts the user to "Please select a payment option". It shows a dropdown for "Country" set to "Madagascar" and a "VISA & Mastercard" section with the "adyen" logo. Below this, there's a "Transfer to this wallet" button. A dropdown menu is open, showing a list of sub-accounts: Eskimi - Roberta, Eskimi - Ruslanas, Eskimi - Ruta (highlighted), Eskimi - Saeed Adops, Eskimi - Saidur Rahman Sagor, and Eskimi - Sarthak. At the bottom, there's a table with columns "Method", "Amount", and "Comment". The table shows three transactions: "Express checkout" for $2.00, "PayPal" for $1.00, and "Admin" for $1.00 on 2023-05-25. The top right of the interface shows the user "Eskimi - Arunas B." and a budget of "$ 71.56".

We deduct the amount from the agency master account and transfer it to the sub-account.

The money should appear in the other account in seconds.

Who can use it?

Only Agency type accounts with child accounts can use this feature.
